

Haiku Prompts

lorrietomwrites.com

This is a list of lines from haiku I've written during the last two years. I recycle many of these lines into new haiku because they help me notice what I might miss during busy days. I hope this list helps you begin your haiku journey.

Directions:

- Pick a first line from the list.
- Write an original seven syllable line for the second line.
- Write an original five syllable line for the last line.
- NOTE: Many lines work well as last lines, too. In that case, create a first line that's five syllables.

- today's gratitudes
- my Sunday prayer
- daily liturgies
- each day is a gift
- seek daily delights
- let these names rise up
- blessed with a new day
- tiny rebellions
- waking my senses
- when I am quiet
- look up and breathe deep
- _____

- today's beginnings
- sad face emoji
- sometimes I break rules
- even in dark days
- ordinary awe
- dreams before lunchtime
- today's bonuses
- turning to haiku
- sucky day haiku
- gift of early rise
- wonder in plain sight
- _____

Room for Haiku